

DON'T SIT ON THE FENCE

(Adapted from one of Aesop's fables)

He who is neither for one or another is a friend of none and an enemy of all.
In life you have to take sides.
Not taking a stand is already a stand
You cannot stand alone for long

A war was about to break off between the Birds and the Beasts. When the two armies were collected together the Bat hesitated which to join.

The Birds that passed his perch said: "Come with us"; but he said: "I am a Beast."

Later on, some Beasts who were passing underneath looked up and said: "Come with us"; but he said: "I am a Bird." Luckily, at the last moment peace was made, and no battle took place,

When the Bat came to the Birds and wished to join in their rejoicings, they all turned against him. He then went to the Beasts, but he had to run for safety or else they would have torn him to pieces.

"Ah," said the Bat, "And now where shall I go?"
