

MISTER WALKER AND THE PORTER

Make sure you sit in the right train.

Take the right decisions.

Do not be hasty in life

Watch before you leap

Mr. Walker was traveling from Pune to Bangalore. He gave his suitcase to the porter and asked him: "keep my suitcase in the luggage-van of the Bangalore Express".

As the train came into the platform, Walker rushed into the compartment and sat there waiting for the train to start.

The porter, however, puffing away a cigarette, remained in the platform sitting peacefully on Mr. Walker's suitcase. As the train started off, Mr. Walker through the window of his compartment saw the coolie placidly sitting on his suitcase in the platform.

In anger and fright, Mr. Walker shouted: "Eh! What are you doing? Did I not tell you to keep my suitcase in the luggage-van?"

The porter quickly replied: "Sir, your luggage is alright. It is you who got in the wrong train!".
