

MR. BROWN'S SURPRISE

Wrong expectations about your marriage partner bring disappointment

Chauvinistic attitudes do not promise a happy marriage.

Marriage is a 50% , 50% partnership

You will get from marriage what you invest in it

The Story

My marriage took place over 30years ago. We liked each other. We lived in peace. We never quarreled nor had a disagreement.

She admired me and respected my experience. She knew that the duty of a wife is to respect her husband. I could ask her anything and she did it punctually. She ever served me so faithfully. I was very happy with her. She was for ever ready to guess my desires and wishes.. Every thing I wanted I got if for the asking. And this, all the time, and everyday. J really liked her

Imagine over 30 years of married life with such a wonderful and caring partner! So dutiful, so aware of a wife's duties.. Now, you will understand why I feel so puzzled and confused! I cannot guess went wrong, the other day, abruptly and suddenly she left me and went away! I can't understand what went wrong with her!
