

THE PIG AND THE DIAMOND

(Aesop's Fable)

Beauty is not for Pigs and piggy people.

A pig was strutting up and down the farm-yard when suddenly he espied something shinning amid the dung. It happens to be a precious diamond lost among the dirt.

The pig told the diamond: "Yes, you are diamond; you may be a treasure to others but not to me. I would have been happier to have found some bean pods than a heap of likes of you!"
